56 th annual Regart-

Report of the Board of Managers.

In making our report this year, we, the Board of Managers, have a keen sense of the responsibility resting upon us to vigorously extend the Mission's work at the present time. It is true that the attendance at our services has been large—over twenty thousand; that over one hundred and forty-eight thousand visits have been made to our reading rooms; that favorable circumstances have enabled us to make our plant more efficient in each branch by enlarging and putting our buildings in better condition, and, what is possibly still more important, that we have succeeded in protecting the sailor more than ever before. But all this falls far short of what we want to and should do. Is it reasonable for a community to suppose that it can accomplish much toward making religion acceptable to the sailor if it harbors within its borders a horde of harpies constantly preying on him? Only a few years ago a careful estimate was made of the amount of what the sailors in this port were robbed of in one year—and what was it? Not less than half a million dollars. The enormity of the situation aroused the sailors' friends. Our Society took a prominent part not only in securing new legislation, but in energetically endeavoring to have the existing laws on the statute books enforced; and during the past year these efforts have been crowned with more satisfactory results than we could reasonably have hoped for.

The Seamen's Branch of the Legal Aid Society, to aid which this Society makes annual contributions, reports action each month on an average of three hundred and fifty (350) applications for Legal Aid. The same may be said of our special police officer, who in a single day handled over fourteen hundred dollars ($1 400) of seamen's wages thus saved from robbery, and mostly forwarded to dependent relatives through money orders, officers and otherwise. The exaction of unlawful commissions or "Blood Money" by shipping agents—hitherto a prevalent mode of robbery—has also received attention, and one offender was fined one hundred dollars ($100), while others pleaded guilty and escaped with lighter penalties. In hundreds of cases arrears of wages and clothing, unlawfully withheld, have been recovered. It is a matter of congratulation that the Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Navigation at Washington, received the representative of our Board with great courtesy and consideration, and embodied in the new regulations of the Department his suggestions for the prevention of criminal enticements to seamen prior to dockage or anchorage of vessels. Under the new law approved March 31st, 1900, and the regulations of the Treasury Department, which became effective July 23rd, 1900, four "runners" have been brought to trial and punished by the U. S. Courts in this city. Cruelty at sea has been further discouraged, and stigmatized by six months imprisonment of a cruel officer.

C. H. Abbott, Assistant Counsel of the Legal Aid Society, Seamen's Branch, reports that from March, 1899, to December 1, 1900, 5,778 seamen applied for legal aid: 1,916 for arrears of wages, 447 for personal property, chiefly clothing unlawfully confiscated; 156 made criminal complaints, 87 men were sent to home ports, 69 to hospitals, 69 complained of illegal shipping fees (blood money), 64 of illegal advances, 87 were discharged from ships, 63 applied for prize money, 79 obtained citizen's papers, 16 complained against "runners," 46 of assault and battery, and there were nearly all classes of cases possible for seamen to have. The "Branch for Seamen" collected $19,625 94 in money and $9,975 in value for personal property, being a total of $29,600.94 for seamen.

J. W. Abbott, our Special Police Officer (No. 131), reports that from January 8 to December 1, 1900, his duty has been to protect and aid seamen in and about the foreign consulates and shipping offices and in inspecting sailor boarding houses in New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Hoboken, and in boarding ships in the harbor and at the piers. He has scrutinized the paying off and "signing on" of shipping articles of over 17,000 seamen, and aided in the arrest of twenty-two offenders against seamen on various complaints, delivered thirty-six summonses, obtained clothing or dunnage for 226 sailors, sent home for seamen and held temporarily for them, $2,404.25; obtained naturalization papers for 39 seamen who wished to enter the navy and investigated nearly one hundred sailor boarding houses. In this work he became acquainted with all the boarding house masters, runners, shipping masters or "crimps," and all other solicitors of seamen in the port of New York, and closely watched them, having worked on an average nine hours a day.

The whole field of protecting the sailor is a vast one, and to work it properly will demand generous money support and untiring effort.

The school for navigation and applied seamanship has opened for the season at No. 34 Pike Street, but the outlook is not as hopeful as we expected. It should be a great aid to young seamen, and to young men who intend to become sailors; such instruction tending to diminish inefficiency and cruelty and to improve the service.

Death has taken from us one of our clerical Vice Presidents, the much respected and beloved Rector of St. Thomas Church, the Rev. Dr. John W. Brown.

During the year we have received legacies:

From the estates of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Alexander M. Proudfit and Carolin E. Hollister.

It is to be regretted that our Society is not more frequently remembered when generous testators are seeking to make provision in their wills for a wise disposition of their money. If they would give but a moment's reflection to the fact that from the Battery to Tenth Street on the North River side we have but one station, and from there up to the northernmost point of the island none at all, while on the East River side our equipment is about equally inadequate—it would seem as though they would be convinced of the pressing need for more means wherewith to do this important work.

Great prosperity has come to our country. Will any one deny that our enormous trade with nations across the waters has had much to do with this? And has not the seaman performed an important part in bringing this about? Shall we now neglect him or shall we make some practical recognition of his services, by protecting him and making life in this city a blessing instead of a curse to him?

Annual Report of the Chaplain East River Station.

The Chaplain in charge of the East River Station in making his fifth annual report to the Board of Managers respectfully states: That regular services at the Floating Church of Our Saviour have been held on Sunday morning at half past ten, and on Sunday evening at eight o'clock, with the Holy Communion on the first and third Sundays in each month.

There is again connected with the Church a Sunday-school, which is held in our Mission building, 34 Pike Street.

Monday and Tuesday evenings have been devoted to the meetings of the Men's and Women's Hope Clubs respectively. It is gratifying to be able to state that the members of these clubs are among our most efficient helpers.

Wednesday nights have been given up to the temperance work with fairly satisfactory results.

The Friday evening services and illustrated lectures have been continued as usual. The well known and popular Saturday social meetings, under the direction of the Men's Club, have been largely attended and exceptionally enjoyable. And besides these many other services and meetings were held, which we hope have all been instrumental in saving and elevating both those of the sea and those of the land.

The Reading and Game Rooms are opened every week day from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. On Sundays the Reading Room is opened, except during the hours of service. They are most comfortable and fairly well supplied with books, papers and games.

Constant are the demands made on the Chaplain, who is in residence, for medical or surgical treatment, legal aid, clothes, for help and advice in numerous directions.

This work alone furnishes many and splendid opportunities for coming into personal contact with the men.

There have been made the usual daily and weekly visitations to Hospitals, Boarding Houses and Shipboard. Last winter there was established a free school for Seamanship and Navigation, and an instructor employed by the Society devotes to this work six hours a day. This further effort and expense shows the great interest this Society evinces in the Sailors. The school has not proven the success that it is hoped it will, although it has not been by any means barren of results.

Thus is our time and labor distributed. The people of the neighborhood attending the Floating Church of Our Saviour claim all the time we can spare from our duties as Missionaries to Seamen.

So not only have seamen, but landsmen, their wives and children been benefited spiritually and temporally. We are leaving no proper means untried to secure the attention and gain the confidence of those we are striving to benefit.

Many sick and destitute seamen have been helped through the Morrill Fund, and besides, through it, we have been able to render valuable service to Mr. Clark H. Abbott in his excellent work as attorney of the Legal Aid Society, Seamen's Branch, by caring for men while their cases were pending. Your Chaplain believes that if all the real and substantial good which has been accomplished in a quiet manner through this Society could be realized by the members of the Church, we would not only have sufficient means, but many of our uptown people would come down to the several stations and lend a helping hand.

On April ninth, the Floating Church, which had always been moored at the foot of Pike Street, was removed, on account of the work being done by the Dock Department along the water front, to the then only available place at the foot of Rutgers Street. The extreme kindness and consideration shown us by the Commissioners, the Engineer and his employees is most truly appreciated.

For three months the Mission House was closed for the work of alteration and enlargement. The munificent appropriation of the Board of Managers, and the generous gifts of individual members and friends of the Society, has made it possible to reopen the building, much changed and very greatly improved, practically new.

We have now a brighter, more attractive and better ventilated Reading Room, and separate from it a snug and very pleasant Game Room, and in addition a room devoted entirely to the instruction of Navigation and also a well furnished kitchen. Upstairs is a room for the care-taker and a ladies room.

The Assembly Room on this floor will now seat comfortably two hundred. When the building is completely furnished and the electric lights have been put in our Mission House will surely surprise and delight every one who knew old 34 Pike Street.

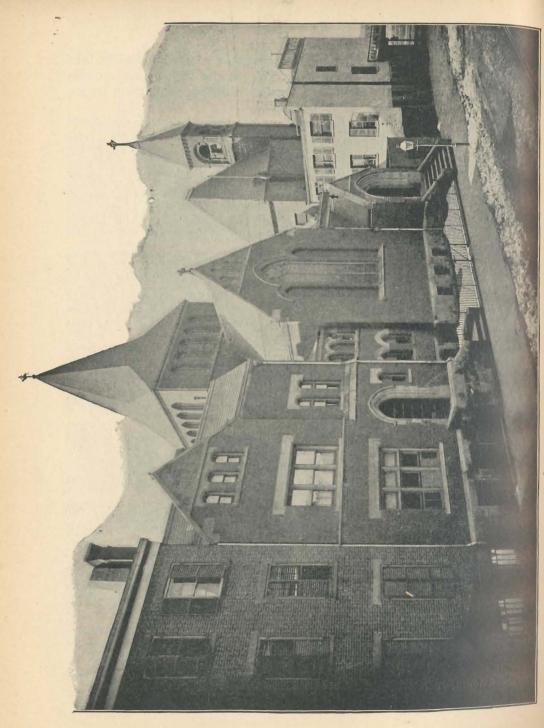

For these improvements of both interior and exterior your Chaplain is sincerely grateful. He is heartily thankful to all friends for presentations and donations, and for everything that has been done to make the work successful.

Respectfully submitted,

ARCHIBALD R. MANSFIELD,

CHAPLAIN.

Advent, 1900.

Annual Report of the Chaplain North River Station.

We are striving to benefit the men of the sea. We cannot do without them, and we advance our own well-being when we care for them.

This has been a year of fruitful work. The men are coming to us, and in the majority of cases they are more or less friendless and homeless while on our shores. A heavy strain is ever upon their lives, and hope seems to be absent. It is upon this condition that our Society appears with the admonition from Isaiah: "Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God."

Our men are from the great ocean liners and the majority from below decks. Stormy seas, high winds, hard work, weary bodies, early deaths is the order with them. It is to such we stretch out the hand of sympathy and brotherly kindness.

They have never shown greater appreciation than this last year for the church services. In them they have been hearty and devout. We have had an average of sixty to one hundred men on a Sunday night. We have had uniform courtesy and kindness from the officers in our ship visitation, and this has been most faithfully conducted. We have done all in our power to aid the sick, injured and destitute seamen. Flowers, fruit, medicines, clothing and reading matter have been distributed in large quantities. Forty thousand seamen have visited our Church during the past twelve months.

On May ninth, our Bishop visited us, confirmed fourteen persons and unveiled tablets (In Memoriam) to C. Vanderbilt and Mrs. E. A. Gardner, mother of the Chaplain.

On the Sunday after All Saints' day a memorial service was held for the seamen lost in the Hoboken disaster, on which occasion a beautiful new pulpit was used for the first time, which bears the following inscription: "To the preaching of Christ, and in grateful remembrance of Charles H. Contoit, this pulpit is dedicated, by the Board of Managers, A. D. 1900." One hundred seamen were present in this service from Hoboken.

This has been a most encouraging year's work in results.

Respectfully submitted,

WALTER A. A. GARDNER,

Annual Report of the Chaplain of the Coenties Slip Station.

The report of Coenties Slip Station differs very little this year from that of previous years. The work is the same and is conducted on the same lines. Increased facilities have been introduced which have been instrumental in making our work more effective. The introduction of hot water radiators in the place of stoves, and the substitution of electric light for that of gas, have made a marked improvement. These innovations have been very acceptable to our people. They have added materially to the comfort of the sailors and boatmen, many of whom are strangers in a strange land, and on that account are open to such evil influences as a great city with all its places of dissipation and vice may suggest. In the Reading Room, which is open from 8.30 A. M. to 10 P. M., they find a safe and comfortable resting place where they have plenty of good reading matter, free writing materials, simple games, and every Tuesday evening a liberal supply of light refreshments. Surely there is no telling what good results may spring from such gatherings and how many sea-faring men may be rescued from the temptations which surround them while living in idleness ashore. We do not believe that the Church should stand for social life alone; but we do believe that there is a material as well as a spiritual side to man; and that by appealing to his immediate needs, both physical and moral, we can often reach his heart and lead him to appreciate that which is highest in his nature.

The open air services which were held on the pier during the Summer were very encouraging, despite the many obstacles we had to surmount on account of the improvement of the bulkheads and the building of new piers. It was difficult to find room for the tent at times.

Other parts of the work have been equally prosperous during the past year.

The thanks of the Chaplain are herein tendered to the publishers of the daily journals, the superintendents of St. Luke's, the Presbyterian, the Roosevelt and the New York Cancer Hospitals; also to Mr. T. B. Woolsey, Vice-President of the New York Hospital, and to all others who have helped us in any way to carry on our work.

Respectfully submitted,

ISAAC MAGUIRE,

Report of the Committee on The Sailors' Home.

The Committee of the New Sailors' Home respectfully report: That the past year has been one of great prosperity in almost everything pertaining to the Home.

Five hundred and forty-five seamen have entered the Home during the year, which is the greatest number ever received in a like period.

A new iron safe has been purchased, in which all money left with the Superintendent for safe keeping by the seamen has been deposited.

The system of using printed checks and receipts, as between the Superintendent and the seamen, which was adopted in June last, has proved beneficial.

Your Committee have examined these books and found the amounts to agree with the cash remaining in the safe; also have examined the receipts for money expended for supplies for the Home, and report them correct.
